A WORD

Regarding Preparations for Easter.

So long as beautiful woman takes pride in her apparel; so long as art, genius and skill are devoted to beauty-work for women; so long as the charm of beauty shall endure, women and men who admire them will take supreme interest in spring dresses. First, because of the art and beauty expressed in the dresses themselves; second, because of their charm and becomingness to the women who wear them.

And This Week is An Important One in the calendar of spring and Easter preparation for tomorrow we present to public view, first a lavish display of the most charming models that the skillful and ingenious designers of the East have produced.

The development of fashion is a constantly progressive evolution beauty-ward. It seems trite to say now, as we have perhaps said before, that the present season's styles are more charming, more artistic, more beautiful than ever before, and the fact is abundantly illustrated by the ready-to-wear suits on exhibition tomorrow.

The public is invited to view the splendid opening display at Kaufman, Straus & Co.

13 and 14 West Main Street.
LEXINGTON, KY.

Lost Found.

On last September a man and woman appeared in McHenry, a mining town near Owensboro. They gave their names as Jack King and wife and the man soon had a paying position. Selma Douglass, of Columbia, Mo., went to the same place on the 17th inst., and was looking for his wife. He identified the Mrs. King as his wife and she recognized him as her husband. She says that they were married thirteen years ago. They resided in Jefferson City, Mo., in 1891 and she claims that in her husband's absence King came to their home and drugged her and their son and took them to St. Louis. The boy was afterwards sent back, she says. She claims that King had her in his power ever since. Douglass says he always got along well with his wife. His wife managed to get a letter to him telling of her whereabouts.

Boy Almost Starved.

Wasted to a skeleton, and his body covered with cobwebs, Eddie Webster, aged fourteen, a member of the George junior republic, Rochester, N. Y., has surrendered himself, two weeks after his escape. He had hidden under a school building in the center of the colony, and had remained concealed while the search went on all about him, defying starvation and weather for freedom, and emerging only when near exhaustion.

Morris Evans died of smallpox near Flemingsburg, and many other cases of the disease are reported.

From Abroad.

LETTER IV.

100 MILES FROM GIBRALTAR, WEDNESDAY, FEB. 18, 1903.

Dear Judge:—We are steaming towards Gibraltar amid one of the sublimest scenes ever witnessed by man. The viewless giants of the storm have fought all night upon the tortured sea, tossing the ship with new and varied motions that have rendered 300 passengers helpless as infants and utterly tired of life. The rest of us who have been on deck since dawn watching the glories of the sun-lit storm are animated with youthful vigor and voracious appetites. Not a cloud is visible, but the sea is swept by the tireless storm that gashes and lashes it with indescribable fury, and twists up and tosses into the sky great mountains of snow, emerald and sapphire, suffused and robed in the gorgeous drapery of rainbows. I have walked the jumping and rolling deck for hours in my mackintosh drenched in spray to enjoy the high luxury of this exhilarant scene of unsurpassed grandeur and glory. I know there is one gentle voice that could still the thunders of this reckless storm into the breathless quiet of a summer eve, and smoothe out in an instant the billowy mountains of this foaming sea. It is His presence that gives perfect peace to the soul when the wild sea is ruffled and wrung by the demon of the storm.

Later:—The hurricane is still in the chase at the rate of 65 miles an hour so that I have to brace myself by rope or pillar to stand erect on deck.

"Tariff for revenue only" was cradled on the point of the African coast just in sight—opposite Gibraltar. There is Tarifa, nine miles from this Europa point of Gibraltar, the Barbary pirates erected a Custom house or castle—still visible—and collected tariff on all vessels passing through the straits. Some times they would take passengers and crew for slaves in addition to the regular tariff. A committee of war ships was finally appointed to revise the tariff at Tarifa and having wiped out the pirates and dismantled the castle the trouble at that point was ended.

Through the porthole I now discern clearly the cragging form of the famous Conine rock. Its august form and striking features once seen can never be forgotten. A score of times within 2,000 years those rocky cliffs now green with vegetation have been burnt with the fire of battle and reddened with the blood of dying heroes. Romans, Goths, Vandals, Moors, Spanish, French and English have all fought over it.

Taric, the first Moorish conqueror gave us its modern name—Gibet, meaning rock. Gibet and Taric were put into the linguistic mill together and came out "Gibraltar." That is the way words are made. The rock is about 2 miles north and south and two-thirds of a mile east and west. A little, lone narrow isthmus of sand connects it with the Spanish peninsula above which rises sheer this solid rock 1,400 feet. In the war waged by Ferdinand and Isabella against the Moors, the queen sat down on a great rock in front of the fortress, lifted her jeweled cross and took a solemn vow never to vacate that seat until the Spanish flag floated over the citadel. When the bloody assault had ended in hopeless failure, the chivalrous old Moor hauled down his flag for a few minutes and ran up that of Spain's, to release the queen from her rash vow and save her from death. Such gallant deeds were common with those gallant Moors. They ought not to be ashamed of their proud and noble race. This morning I asked a degenerate Moor, of Gibraltar, if he was a Moor. "No," said he, "I am English. Spaniard and Moor no good." The English have held the place since 1704. The last assault was made upon it during England's disastrous war with the American colonies. France and Spain beset it by land and sea with one of the most desperate sieges in history, lasting four years. The little army of heroic defenders lived long on an allowance of four ounces of rice daily. When the vast fleets of the allies were destroyed and the helpless crews left struggling in the waves, Sir George Elliott and his faithful army rushed into the seething waters and rescued them from death.

THE OLD RELIABLE

THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE

The fortress is now kept provisioned for a siege of seven years. The garrison's luncheon to-day was stored in the rock seven years ago. A great deal of nonsense has appeared in print recently asserting the uselessness of this corner of England's Mediterranean quadrilateral with its garrison of 6,000, but while Great Britain remains mistress of the Mediterranean, Gibraltar with Malta, Cyprus and Egypt will ever remain a vital point.

The 400 African apes that occupy the rock are very friendly and familiar in their bearing. The natives say these intelligent apes can talk as well as human beings, but hide their gift of speech from man lest they should be put to work. Innumerable objects of interest—natural and historic—are found here, whose story even in brief would fill a book. American money is current here. When a business man in Funchal was asked about currency he answered, "American money is the best in the world." A cabman in Egypt once refused English silver, but readily accepted from me an American half dollar. At four o'clock in the morning we push out in the storm for Algiers. W. T. Tins.

LETTER V.

DEAR JUDGE:

Friday, Feb. 19th, about noon, we weighed anchor in front of Britain's martial honeycomb and sailed around old Gibraltar to a stormless sea. Read the story of Gibraltar in some good history for I cannot afford to write much history or anything else on this busy sea. The contrast between the German and British sailor is very marked. Germany can never supplant Britain on the sea.

Happily, Algiers is now a French instead of an African city. For generations it was the stronghold of piratical Moslems who plundered every ship and enslaved every Christian their powerful fleet could capture. For the first Americans captured, the Algerian government demanded of President Washington about $3,000 a head. In 1795 we paid $21,000 and an annual tribute of $22,000 up to 1812. The thrilling story of the capture of Algiers in June 1812 by Decatur, and the release of all enslaved Americans is one of the most heroic and brilliant pages in American naval annals. In the same period Melberton O'Bannon, a relative of Mrs. Amelia Young, sealed the high fortresses of Tripoli followed by a handful of marines and chased from their guns thousands of Arab soldiers, and loaded on his ships the fine brass cannon now exhibited in the navy yard at Washington. For this gallant deed Congress voted him a gold-hilted sword which ought to fall into the hands of the Young boys. These bloodthirsty ruffians captured more than 3,000 vessels and imposed the unspeakable horrors and atrocities of merciless slavery upon 600,000 Christians, many of whom were refined and delicate women, most of whom served in chain gangs or harems.

30,000 Christian slaves worked three years building the great mole, with its connecting wall, that first wakes the admiration of the approaching tourist. An ancient tradition that the Christian martyr, Geronimo, was encased alive in a mass of concrete built into the wall of the great fort, has been verified by exposing to view the ghastly center of the block where he writhed in death face downward. A gruesome memorial of Geronimo now stands in the public museum a plaster cast molded in the martyr's sarsaphagus.

Algiers, which in its newer section is Paris in miniature, has a population of 90,000—two-thirds Europeans. Since 1830 Algeria for 600 miles along the African coast has been a French province. The Romans captured it about 46 B. C. For centuries northern Africa was the seat of some of the most powerful Christian Churches, and the home or many of the most learned and illustrious leaders of the church. From Cyrene, the native place of Simon who bore the cross for Jesus, and of Lucius who was with Paul at Antioch, to the Atlantic coast, there were 580 vast ecclesiastical districts called "Sees." In 253 A. D. there was held at Carthage a famous council attended by 87 bishops and 87 presbyters. Tertullian in the second century, Cyprian in the third, and Augustine in the fourth are names whose glory in the church has never been surpassed. The oldest Latin translation of the Bible was made not at Rome but in north Africa. When the unspeakable Turk and the changeless Arab have removed his crescent and black tent forever from these coasts, civilization and Christian religion may make here another garden of delight.

When at noon to-day (Saturday) over a placid sea beneath the soft blue of a cloudless sky, we steamed behind the great breakwater into the beautiful harbor of Algiers, the sailors of three American warships stood under their waving banners of stars and stripes to welcome our approach. At this welcome eight tears of gladness fell from many eyes into the green waters that rest gently over the graves of thousands who sank to death in battle or slavery because they bore the name of Christ. Then, to convey us to the pier, 75 row boats and two large steam tenders surrounded the Kaiserin, all flying from their prows new American flags. As I turned my eyes from the depths of the soft blue sky to the darker blue of the sea and to the mottled green bay, then up to the dazzling whiteness of this encircling city set with green groves and gorgeous gardens—"a diamond set in emerald"—up to the crown of purple mountains beyond, I felt that no city had ever before shone upon my vision with such gentle splendor and variegated beauty. Carriages conveyed us over French roads in a circle on the mountains above the city and through its principal streets. In the narrow Moorish streets thronged with mostly multitudes of picturesque Orientals—men, women and children—we found the bazaars thronged with artists and mechanics vendors and buyers. In a little corner of the vast public park of tropical trees and flowers, we discovered a flourishing patch of Irish potatoes which Dr. Buckner pronounced the most attractive object we had seen because it reminded him of his own little garden "at home, sweet home." He uttered this sentiment with a depth and tenderness of tone that was startling.

We read the inscription on the memorial stone over the martyred dust of Geronimo in one corner of the great French Cathedral, and lingered long in the dim twilight with the silent worshippers who were kneeling here and there over the vast area. I feel sorry for the Christian who can linger in such a place amid multitudes of weary and hungry hearts, crying out to God for help, and not yield his soul to devout emotions and bend his knees in prayer.

It is nine o'clock at night on these summer shores of northern Africa. The stars all sparkle in the sweet blue sky and gleam with beauty in the depths of the bay. Stars and electric lights flash and play, upon the white city between whose glittering palaces I still discern the majestic forms of stately palms with their ponderous clusters of dates. The anchor falls upon the deck, and we are pushing out towards the tranquil sea—for Malta 578 miles away. W. T. Tins.

The business agent of the Federated Trades Council at Milwaukee has announced to the members of the Council that hereafter he will consider no alleged grievance when presented by a man or men under the influence of liquor. One or two drinks, he says, will give any one a grievance.

Two brothers named Taylor, supposed to be horse thieves and believed to be members of a gang that has been operating extensively, were captured by a posse of Anderson county men just over the Nelson county line.

SKETCH

Of Judge Thomas Metcalfe, Formerly of This Place.

On Wednesday, March 11th, in San Antonio, Texas, Judge Thomas Metcalfe, a former highly respected citizen of this place died rather unexpectedly, as his family and friends were unaware of the seriousness of his malady. Judge Metcalfe was born in Nicholas county, his father was Mr. Melville Metcalfe and he was named for his grandfather, a former Governor of Kentucky (1828-32). He was brought to this county when only three years of age, having been virtually adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Newton Congleton (Mrs. Congleton being his aunt) and was reared in the family of that estimable couple. After his graduation he taught school awhile and prosecuted his legal studies under the tutelage of Judge William Moore for many years Judge of this circuit, he was afterwards associated with Judge Richard Apperson, Jr., in the practice of his profession, and was for a time Judge of our City Court. He was married to Miss Mary A. Chiles, the daughter of Col. Walter Chiles and sister of our townsman, Mr. L. T. Chiles, in 1863, and removed with his family to Atchison, Kansas, in 1869, continuing the practice of his profession in partnership with Senator Jno. J. Ingalls. He removed to St. Louis in 1877 and there became acquainted with and interested in Mr. John Burroughs, who had exhausted his resources in an effort to perfect and put on the market the Arithmometer that now bears his name. It was owing to the sympathy and material assistance of Mr. Metcalfe that the completion and perfecting of that wonderful machine was made possible, and very naturally on the organization of a company to manufacture and exploit it, Mr. Metcalfe was made its president. He retired from active practice of the law several years ago and for the past two years resided on his farm in Illinois some 40 miles from St. Louis.

Mr. Metcalfe was an honored member of the Masonic fraternity and for many years a leader in the councils of the Southern Methodist church. He was an uncompromising Democrat of the old school and though an orator of no mean ability made no effort to secure political preferment, his tastes being entirely alien to the intriguing methods of modern politics.

Mr. Metcalfe is well remembered by our older citizens who speak of him in the most complimentary terms as one of the men who lived among us without reproach. He was one of those steadfast friends who could bear uncompromisingly his friends' infirmities, a genial, kind hearted man, who dying bequeaths to his family not only a competency, but a legacy of greater worth, an untarnished name, a blameless record, for he ever believed that a man should be upright rather than be kept upright, and like the fine gentleman that he was he leaves the world without having tasted of lying or pretense of any sort, or of wantonness or conceit, that which was unseemly he did not, that which was untrue he spoke not.

"The kindest man, the best conditioned and unwearied spirit in doing his fellowmen."

His remains were interred in the little cemetery at Kirkwood, Mo., on Sunday, March 15, 1903.

Gen. Schuyler Hamilton, a classmate of Gen. Grant at West Point, and a distinguished veteran of the Mexican and Civil Wars, is dead at the age of eighty-eight.

CORRESPONDENCE.

STOOPS.

It is very strange the critic said,
And the facts I cannot learn,
Why a drunken man "worth a million" feels,
When he isn't worth a "dime."

Several cases of spring fever in our town.

Our farmers made great headway in burning tobacco beds last week.

Miss Annabel Coons, who was quite sick last week, is able to be at school.

Marion Bridges will return this week, after a month's stay at Hot Springs, Va.

G. W. Kinesid and Mark Trimble delivered their crops of tobacco to Hiale at 7½c and 6½c per pound.

Some people are so busily finding faults of others that they never find any fault with themselves.

Joe Coons sold a fine span of mules to Sid Hart for $300.

A strong ticket put out by the Democracy of Kentucky means that there will be four more years of prosperity in the "Grand Old State."

Miss Hattie Seebest and brother, Ralph, of Richland, Mo., are visiting relatives in the neighborhood.

There is something very attractive over in the Jarons Run neighborhood, or at least Will Haney thinks so, for "something" draws him in that direction every Sunday.

Mrs. L. E. Griggs, of Mt. Sterling, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. J. H. Gillispie, several days last week.

Richard Mallory is visiting relatives in Fleming county this week.

N. A. Sachs, of the firm of N. A. Sachs & Co., was here one day last week.

Our new firm, Grooms & Ficklin have filled their store with new goods, and we do not hesitate to say that it is one of the nicest country stores in the State.

Several horse trades were made in our town last week, and several hundred dollars changed hands.

Andy Triplett, after several weeks of "solitary" quietude" is again steering a "court-ship" on the matrimonial sea.

John W. Thompson bought a horse from George Pieratt for $185.

New scholars are enrolled at our school every week. The patrons of the district will never know Prof. Throop's worth as a teacher until they have lost him.

To the many friends and patrons of the ADVOCATE, in this vicinity, we want you to give us all the news you know every week. We want to represent you in the columns of the ADVOCATE, and what we want for our salary is "news."

Stoops is talking about organizing a baseball club.

TATTLE TALE.

SPENCER.

Mr. William Biggers, son of Mr. Harrison Biggers, is quite ill.

Mr. Richard Conner is on Red river buying stock. Will be absent some days.

Mrs. Laura Younand daughter, Miss Willie, spent Sunday with the family of Mr. Green Reaser.

Mr. J. T. Coons prophesies that there will be no peaches this year, apples, however, will be plentiful.

Miss Catherine McCormick, out hook or line, by a certain faction wholly hers, has caught a rare specimen of the genus homo; height, 5 feet 8 inches, weight 140 pounds, profession—but that would be telling. Other anglers are quite envious, so are other danglers.

Spencer School has been reinforced this week by the attendance of two most excellent students, Wilbur and Beulah, children of Mr. J. A. Lipps.

The death angel visited our quiet neighborhood this week and bore away with him the wife of Mr. Brack Myers, nee Miss Molly Nolan. Her health had been failing for some time and her death was hardly a surprise to her many anxious friends.

Rev. Mr. Simpson filled his usual fourth Sunday appointment at Spencer church Sunday. Attendance was excellent, despite the inclement weather.

FLEMING COUNTY NEWS.

(Democrat.)

Two boys, Cap. Jones and Avery Emmons, were arrested on a warrant charging them with seining in Fleming creek contrary to the law.

The oldest inhabitant does not remember a March without a snow, frost, freeze or a windy day up to the 19th. The leaves are coming out, the fruit buds swelling and the wheat and grass looking more like the last of April.

Morris Evans, County Surveyor, in the 26th year of his age, died at his home near Plummer's Mills, Tuesday afternoon, the 17th inst. He was called upon to establish the line between the Poor Farm and some adjoining land, and while so doing took dinner with the keeper of the farm, A. B. Saunders, and while there contracted the disease. Another death resulted from small pox, old Miss Parker, aged about 84, who had long been an inmate there, died from its effects. The 12 cases at the Poor Farm were progressing as favorably as could be expected.

Quite a colony of people has left Ewing for the purpose of seeking new homes in the State of Washington. The Carlisle Mercury gives this account of their start: A crowd of between two and three hundred persons at Ewing Station assembled to bid farewell to a company of about twenty young men who started for the State of Washington with a view of permanently locating. Religious services were held in the depot, and the scene of parting was pathetic and tender. The eyes of many fathers, mothers, and sweethearts were bathed in tears as their loved one bade adieu.

CLARK COUNTY ITEMS.

(Democrat.)

Mrs. Lizzie Dudley Garth, of St. Louis, Mo., is the guest of her cousin, Mrs. F. H. Dudley.

Capt. and Mrs. K. J. Hampton, of Washington, D. C., attended the golden wedding of Capt. Hampton's parents.

Dr. J. H. Holloway, of the Navy, is expected home in a few days to visit his parents.

A. R. Martin, member of the Council from the Fifth Ward, having moved to the country, resigned and Frank H. Hagyard was chosen.

Patsy Pickrell, the twelve year old daughter of J. M. Pickrell, was chasing her pony recently when by some means both fell, the pony falling on her and breaking her arm.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Hampton on Tuesday, 17th, inst., celebrated their golden wedding. Since 1865 they have lived in this county where they are most highly esteemed. Twelve children were born to them.

The Library Contest which has just closed has evoked much and wide spread interest, but has been characterized throughout by the utmost good feeling. The following is the final vote for three leading: Winchester High School, 410, 282; Kentucky Wesleyan College, 260, 188; B. P. O. Elks, 74, 734.

Work has begun in earnest by George Bros., in excavating for their new hotel. It will be 614 by 120 feet, three stories high with mansard roof, of brick with iron front, steam heated, with all modern conveniences. The building will contain forty sleeping rooms.

The City Council and the people of Winchester are face to face with probably the gravest and most serious municipal question ever presented. The present water company is not financially able to full its contracts. The Council met in special session, Mr. Wheeler, President of the local company was present and stated that his company could not give the guarantee which the Council demanded. Mr. Wheeler intimated that if the hydrant rental was increased ten dollars per year, and the price to private consumers increased, he might enlist other capital, that he thought his company would sell their plant to the city for $75,000, stating that it cost $125,000.

Several of our eastern Kentucky exchanges note the fact that large numbers of young men are going to Illinois and other western States to work on farms. They claim to receive better wages than in Kentucky. Only a very few have left Clark county, thinking that by the same amount of work and energy they can do equally as well at home.

Street Fair.

The A. O. U. W. and Red Men met on Friday night and decided to hold a Street Fair at a time best suited for the business interests of our people. The following gentlemen were named as Street Fair officials: Charles E. Sled, President; Dan Hollearn, Vice President; Thomas B. Rodman, Secretary; and J. H. Kemper, Treasurer. Work preparatory for that meeting will begin early and every attraction will be fresh, new and enjoyable. Premiums will be a feature worth competing for. Every member will give time and influence to draw larger crowds than ever before and great success may be depended on.

I will appreciate your favor if you will call upon A. W. Sutton, who is authorized to collect my accounts up to Jan. 1, 1903.

This Is True.

The Cynthia Democrat thinks the good road problem is of more importance to the farmer than is the Democratic primary. It says: "The good road question is of more importance to the people of Harrison county than the result of an election. Besides volunteering services as judges, clerks and sheriffs, why not arrange a joint good roads primary among Democrats and Republicans, and let each fellow volunteer to repair every break, hole and weak spot in the county about his farm. One day's primary of this kind would furnish the authorities with a splendid base to work on, and the $14,000 appropriated this year for roads could finish the general election with victory for everybody. This is a point where patriotism counts."

Whiskey For a King.

A barrel of whiskey from Cincinnati addressed to King Edward is on its way to England. The barrel contains 45 gallons of good old Bourbon. This is the fourth barrel purchased for His Majesty and shipped to him. The information is given that the whiskey is the real Kentucky Brand, and the incident shows two things: that Edward must be a pretty strong drinker, and very foolish to get Kentucky whiskey from Cincinnati—Lexington Democrat.

The Pentecost Herald is getting out three special issues for the purpose of fighting the tobacco and whiskey evils. A war is being made against preachers who chew tobacco and smoke. Of course preachers who are guilty of these filthy habits think that it is the "unkindest cut of all." They don't see how any paper could be opposed to the use of tobacco. All of these preachers say they could quit if they wanted to. We venture the assertion that some preachers spend more money for tobacco than they give to the church. It is an expensive and filthy habit and a preacher can ill afford to participate in it if he wants to lead young men to a higher, nobler and purer Christian life. We must not defile the body which is the temple of the Holy Spirit.

DEATHS.

BARKLEY.—Mrs. Anna Barkley, widow of Silas Barkley, died of pneumonia March 20, aged 71 years. Services at the grave at 2:30 on the 21st instant, conducted by Rev. John Abbott; burial in Macphelah. Mrs. Barkley was a most excellent woman, had reared an interesting family of children, who deeply mourn her loss. They will remember her as the kind, self-sacrificing mother and their just desires it was her pleasure to bestow. She knew how to advise children and neighbors, and wherever known by such advice and by love for the pure and good, she lived in the hearts of those she administered to.

BORD.—On Monday, March 23 William A. Boyd died from paralysis. Funeral at the Somerset Christian church this morning at 10 o'clock after which the remains will be buried in Macphelah cemetery. Mr. Boyd was a good citizen and had been a member of the Christian church about forty years. He was born March 16, 1830, married Miss Maria Highland Feb. 10, 1853 and to this union were born six children, of whom three, Charlie, Walter, Mrs. Elizabeth Gillespie, and his wife survive him.

JEFFRIES.—This is the solution of the death of young Jeffries. Saturday morning L. C. Jeffries, 18 year old son of B. P. Jeffries, went into his room, locked the door, placing the breach of a double barrel shot gun on the floor with the muzzle over his stomach and with a stick pulled the trigger, sending the discharge through his body, from which he died in a few moments. He left no message nor reason relative to the rash act. His remains after a short service at the grave by Rev. H. D. Clark was buried in Macphelah. The high esteem in which he was held in his neighborhood was demonstrated by the long procession which followed him to his last resting place. Mr. Jeffries and family have the profound sympathy of all people in their time of heavy grief. There are so many happy families unacquainted with grief and when it does come it seems the Lord hath laid his hand on his servants heavily. "Whom the Lord loveth He chasteneth," and comfort cometh by leaning on Him.

THE SICK.

Mr. L. A. Stith is sick with a gripe.

Wallace Embry is confined to his room with a gripe.

Mrs. Maura Magowan is quite sick, threatened with pneumonia.

Hon. Harry Thompson, who has been dangerously ill at his home in Clark county, is slightly improved.

For probably a year Mrs. J. Q. Stephens has noticed a small growth on her left breast, but did not give it any thought until a few weeks ago, since which it has grown rapidly. On yesterday it was examined by Drs. Drake and Thompson and pronounced a cancer. They are confident it can be cured by the X-Ray, with which they are treating it.

BROTHERS INDICTED

For Frequencing Public Places, Knowing That They Had Smallpox.

The grand jury of Fayette county brought the first indictment ever returned in the State under the law that makes it a penalty, with a heavy fine, for any one afflicted with smallpox to visit public places. The indictment is against James, Elmer, Henry and Newton Welch. It is charged that they attended church.

Two prisoners being taken to jail by an Arkansas Sheriff saved the Sheriff and his wife from drowning in a stream into which they had fallen, and after the rescue proceeded unguarded to the jail and knocked on the door for admittance.

Four hundred glove cutters at Gloversville and Johnstown, N. Y., have voted to strike unless their demand for increased wages is granted.

The long-pending strike of cigar-makers at Key West, Fla., has been settled.

The Great Value of Coal.

By far the most valuable of our mineral products is coal. In this age of steam and electricity, when cheap power is the very life of a nation's industry, coal is king. Prof. John Tyndall said that the seat of England's greatness was her coal mines. Without them, she could never have become the mistress of the world's manufactures; and without them she could not remain the mistress of the seas.

But Great Britain's coal lies two thousand feet below the surface, and is mined in a temperature of one hundred degrees or higher. There are prophecies that the supply will be exhausted within fifty years, and it is stated that the mines of Germany and the Netherlands are still nearer exhaustion.

The coal supply of Europe is distributed as follows: Russia has 27,000 square miles, said to be of poor quality; Great Britain, 9,000; Germany, 8,000; France, 1,000; Belgium, Spain and other countries, 1,400.

The United States has 194,000 square miles of coal-measures, which is more than four times the area of all the coal fields of Europe, twenty-one times the coal fields of Great Britain, and 41 per cent. of all the coal areas of the world.

Not less than thirty of our States and Territories are now producing coal for the market. In West Virginia, forty-eight counties out of fifty-four have coal deposits. Ohio has had at one time 216 large mines, besides 383 small ones, distributed through thirty counties. Of the twenty-four States and Territories west of the Mississippi coal has been found in every one save Minnesota.

In 1870, Germany raised more coal than we, and Great Britain, nearly four times as much. In 1880, we had passed Germany, but Great Britain raised more than two tons to our one. In 1900, the United States led the United Kingdom by eighteen million tons, and produced more than twice as much coal as Germany. Our product is now more than one-third of the world's annual supply. — Josiah Strong, in March Success.

Useful For the Housewife to Cut and Paste in Receipt Book.

MOCK TURTLE SOUP.—Cook one calf's head, boll until tender, adding salt. Take out, let cool, strain broth and set on fire again; cut meat from the bones in small pieces and put back in the broth, omit the tongue. Chop fine two onions, carrots, parsley, and a little garlic, celery; add all to the soup, also catsup, pepper, salt and lemon, slice a clove and a bay leaf. When nearly done brown a cup full of flour dissolved in the broth and add to the soup. Just before serving add a glass of white Rhine wine and the yolk of an egg hard boiled and cut in small pieces.

BAKED FISH.—This receipt is good for every white fish or red snapper. Salt and pepper the fish well, dredge with flour, a large onion cut fine, two lemons, a lump of butter, a small tomato, a cup full of Worcestershire sauce and sufficient water to make gravy. Bake often as you would a turkey. Bake about forty five minutes.

BUTTERMILK YEAST.—A quart of buttermilk, let come to a boil; pour over a good quart of flour. It will become very lumpy, but stir well and when cool add a yeast cake that has been dissolved in a little warm water. Let it set over night. In the morning stir in a cup of warm water or milk, a tablespoon of sugar and a teaspoonful of soda. Let it set about half an hour or until it rises; then add sufficient flour to make five loaves.

Kentucky Corporations.

The following companies filed articles of incorporation with the Secretary of State. Harlan Telephone Company, of Harlan county; capital, $1,000. The James Lewis Company, of Owensboro; capital, $7,500. Kentucky Traction Company, of Louisville; capital, $5,000.

A household necessity.—Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Heals burns, cuts, wounds of any sort; cures sore throat, croup, catarrh, asthma; never fails.

Miss Nannie Tanner, a well known Owensboro woman, met a horrible death by being run over by a street car. Her body was cut in twain, and her brains scattered along the rails.

Dr. Edward N. Jenks, a prominent physician of Detroit, died suddenly on a Wabash railroad train of acute pneumonia while traveling with his daughter.

He Wanted to Gain Flesh

A Boston millionaire was very thin. Business cares and consequent nervous troubles told the story. He became alarmed, it is said, and consulted a famous specialist. "I want some flesh," he said. "I am willing to pay for it. I'll give you $500 for every pound of solid healthy flesh you can put on these bones."

It was a big price, but he could well afford to pay it. For undue thinness is dangerous. It means disease, or the approach of disease. Cod liver oil has most always been prescribed for this condition. It has wonderful properties as a medicine, but its disagreeable grease and vile taste and smell make most people sick.

We have long thought that something could be devised with cod liver oil as a basis that would arrest emaciation, promote nutrition, stimulate digestion, aid in throwing off rheumatism, lung trouble, bronchitis, coughs, and prove a real body-building tonic and reconstructer and flesh former.

We have found it in Vinol (if you are interested call at the store and we'll tell you how we found it) and it certainly does the work. It is pleasant to take. If you are sick and thin, try Vinol. You can get your money back if it doesn't help you.

WM. S. LLOYD DRUGGIST.

THE PROBLEM

Of Success, By Lewis Nixon.

President of the American Shipbuilding Company and Other Great Business Corporations.

What are the fundamental requirements of success?

It is the same in almost all callings today—a just appreciation of obligation to employer, a loyal determination to fulfill such obligations and an avoidance of watching the clock.

Do not assume for one instant that devotion to employers' interests is lost sight of by the employer.

Those who are charged with responsibility are keeping a keen lookout for men who can be depended upon, and sooner or later the posuer is dropped and the man who produces satisfactory results discovered.

The success of young men in shipbuilding depends, as success depends in all lines of human endeavor, upon work.

Influence and friendly intercession often give young men in this character of work an opportunity but it cannot so place them as to continue them in the line of promotion unless they possess substantial merit, together with a character which counts no effort too great nor sacrifice too dear in carrying out duties and obligations.

In shipbuilding, neglect is at once apparent and makes itself manifest in a glaring way.

A man who is managing a department, for example, has in advance a certain result in time, cost and excellence of workmanship established as a standard, and failure to attain this standard is at once apparent in all ship yards with proper organization, and failures must be accounted for.

This fixing of responsibility and the harmonious working of so many men for the best results in the completed ship develop a feeling of loyalty to work in hand which often brings out almost superhuman efforts during trial trips, overtime working, launches and occasions of like nature.

I am assuming that the young man is looking for a position of responsibility and trust and that he does not wish to remain at the bottom of the ladder.

Shipbuilding management is the better for a certain measure of scientific attainment, but not every man who rises need necessarily be a scientist or even a great mathematician.

For those who can afford the expense, we have excellent technical schools and colleges in this country, while the splendid charity of the late W. H. Webb has at Fordham Heights established a practical technical school of the highest order, where the science and art of shipbuilding are taught without cost to young men who cannot pay the expense of a course at college.

I advise young men who come to me wishing to learn the art of shipbuilding to begin at the bottom.

If young enough, two or three years spent in overalls working at the various trades give a man not only confidence in himself when he arrives at a position where he takes a charge of men but, more important still, develops a confidence in the men under him.

The leading man, foreman or manager, who, when he tells his men to do a certain thing, can show them how to do it, if necessary, is the man who achieves the best results.

The world moves so rapidly now that men must get into and become a part of their work or before they get well started what they may have learned becomes out of date, and the man who leaves an industry nowadays finds in a few short years that he is hopelessly out of the race.

Hence, to learn shipbuilding, the best way is to build ships.

Taking an example of a young man who is able to pay his way, I should say let him get well grounded ed with a good public school education up to seventeen years of age, then two years in a shipyard working through the various departments, then two years at a technical school, followed by a short course at some good commercial college, and then back to a shipyard.

Once there, never let anything interfere with his duties, and he is bound to advance.

One case coming directly under my notice is that of a young man who did have an excellent technical training in one of our best colleges.

Then two years in a drafting room, then several months of hard manual work in the shipyard.

So far the preparation was perfect.

I noticed that he was always anxious to get away with whistle blowing and that sometimes he slipped away before.

He was, however, promoted to a position of responsibility, but having a disagreement with his immediate superior he had to leave.

I got him a good place with one of the greatest establishments in the world, where he took hold well and had every opportunity open for a brilliant future.

A few months afterward he walked into my office.

He had left this excellent place, why I did not know, but he confessed to me that New York was most attractive to him and he wanted to come here.

Watching the clock, I fear, has blocked a brilliant future for a man who should have been an ornament to our profession.

Another case is that of a young man who, with similar technical training, entered seriously upon his work, and no matter what social or other engagement ran counter to his duties, in hours or after hours, such engagement was thrown aside. This man is now president of a shipyard, and shows the same devotion to his duties as when in a lower capacity.

To all young men in-jail callings certain general advice is applicable.

Wine may be the milk of old age, but any young man of good health who has not enough animal spirit to become exhilarated upon a glass of soda water under pleasurable excitement or communion needs looking after.

Men who are anxious to help along younger men are not attracted by a flushed face or a dissipated air.

Young men should not smoke.

They should regard a reputation for truthfulness and integrity as their chief stock in trade in life's equipment, and these are best obtained through early religious training.

Without them the greatest necessity of trade, commerce and industry—credit—will be withheld from him.

A development of the power of observation is of signal service.

Do not be afraid to ask questions nor assume that you cannot learn something from every man, however humble his calling.

As to the industry of shipbuilding, it is sure to develop to immense proportions here.

Our industry has progressed in spite of Government neglect and without Government protection. While, like most other nations, we reserve our coasting trade, we must, if we build in competition with a foreign builder, buy our labor and our material in a protected market. Hence our growth, while slow, has been along lines of uniform progress.

A great shipbuilding industry will benefit every calling, profession and trade, and as the world demands ships for its ever increasing needs it will not be long before this country will enter the lists as a determined competitor against the builders of Europe, and we shall get our share of the shipbuilding of the world when we are prepared to demand it. So the young man who chooses shipbuilding as his life's work will find that to the man determined to attain life's prizes there are opportunities always open. — Lewis Nixon.

CAN'T BE SEPARATED

Some People Have Learned How to Get Rid of Both.

Back ache and kidney ache are twin brothers. You can't separate them. And you can't get rid of the back ache until you cure the kidney ache.

If the kidneys are well and strong the rest of the system is pretty sure to be in vigorous health.

Doan's Kidney Pills make strong, healthy kidneys.

Mr. Henry Murphy, of 684 Broadway, Memphis, Tenn., professional nurse, says: "For a year or two pain and weakness across the loins and difficulty with the kidney secretions indicated that my kidneys were either overtaxed or weakened. All my knowledge of medicine failed to bring relief, and ever anxious to get rid of the trouble before it became chronic, I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, at Hammer & Ballard's drug store. They performed their work very satisfactorily. I know of a great many others in Memphis who have been benefited by Doan's Kidney Pills."

WILLIAM BOWEN and JOHN FREEMAN.

WON'T WORK.

The Republicans are still about with that hammer trying to get up a disturbance among the Democrats, but the old game has been worked so often that it will be hard to get up a stir any more.

REFUSED.

A man may be so stingy that he will use the wart on the back of his neck as a collar button, to save buying one; or, ride on the rear seat of the rear coach of a railway train, to save interest on his money while the conductor is coming around; or even pasture his mother's grave to save corn, but such a man is a gentleman and a scholar, as compared with the scoundrel who will take his county paper for years and when asked to pay his subscription, mark his paper "refused" and put it back in the Post office.—Bill Nye.

This quaint saying of the immortal wit, Bill Nye, fits some people who exist in this country and we reproduce it that they may "see themselves as others see them." To call this "refused" list by name would not puncture too deeply for the people who pay for the medium that make them should know who appreciates and who do not.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

Some weeks ago we commented on the condition of pikes in general and called special attention to a place on the Paris pike near Allie Ratliff's farm and also to the Bath county part of Sharpburg pike between Hinkton bridge and the ascent to Sharpburg.

The Sharpburg correspondent of the Owingsville Outlook commenting on our notice replies in substance that "people who live in glass houses should not throw stones" and calls special attention to North Maysville Street in the city of Mt. Sterling. His criticism, of, or suggestion, concerning this part of our thoroughfare is a deserved one and we have no retaliation. Last week men were engaged in carting off some of the surplus dirt and we will, we trust, see that hereafter more attention is given to our streets.

It often happens that people who neglect duty, or violate obligations, or impose upon the rights and property of others, or offend against the rules of decorum in well ordered and responsible society, are very quick to resent, as faultfinding and meddlesomeness and criticism, any suggestion concerning facts and which tends to the improvement of things temporal or spiritual.

HOW TO SUCCEED.

Following are some suggestions by one of the world's greatest financiers and these statements are corroborated by every man of great success. We publish it with the hope the advice will be taken kindly, that chairs will be removed from front doors and that every one associated with business will use his time for its push. Every man may have a live business if he will. Wisdom, attention, push and liberal advertising does the work.

The Baltimore Herald says: Mr. John Wannamaker, who began business with confidence, a few goods and a wheelbarrow, will erect a twelve-story building to cost five million dollars. He never undertakes anything unless he has a reasonable assurance that it will succeed, and his expectations are generally realized.

Mr. Wannamaker has great faith in advertising. He says he has never found anything to pay as well as the money he has spent in newspapers in letting the people know what he has and what he is doing. He uses thousands of dollars yearly in this way, and it is clear that he finds it pays.

No matter how able a business man may be, the wisest finds he must go before the public through a medium that reaches the homes. Competition may be sharp, as it generally is, but the man of business who tells the people what he has, and always keeps faith with them, will surely reap the reward of his energy.

Mr. Wannamaker's success has been found to many a man who has found, as he has, that nothing pays better than advertising.

A WINNER.

Mr. W. B. O'Connell is at home after visiting Western Kentucky counties not a few. He is really joyful over his prospects as a successful candidate. Where he has gone the people have been rightly persuaded that he is making the race alone, strictly on his political record and ability to run the office when in possession. Some candidates have more promises than they have places to fill. Besides it is being found out that they have been feeding from the public crib almost all of their life since coming to their majority. Of course they are all honorable men and would make competent clerks, but there are others just as competent, just as good Democrats and Mr. O'Connell is one of them. He feels more confident now than ever of his success. The 10th district is his by reason that he is a resident of it, just as his opponents claim their districts. No man could better grace the office or make a more faithful clerk of the Court of Appeals than Mr. O'Connell.

Beckham Ignored by the Council of Nicholasville.

Notwithstanding the fact that Gov. Beckham appointed William Stanley Police Judge of Nicholasville to succeed the late T. N. Crutcher. The City Council at a called meeting Friday night elected John Traynor.

The Council claims that the Governor had no right to interfere in the city government.

Good People Rejoice While a Low Resort is Consumed by Fire.

The notorious "Red Shack" at Mayfield, Ky., that has been the scene of more drunken brawls, murders and serious difficulties than any one place in Western Kentucky, was fired by an unknown person on March 18th and burned to the ground. It has not been over two weeks ago since one man was killed and another wounded at the shack.

After it was learned that the "Red Shack" was on fire the people in the neighborhood notified every one who came to the scene to stand and "let her burn." The shouting and cries for joy among the women has never been equaled at a camp meeting, and the song, "There will be no more drinking there," could be heard for many blocks away. To-day a happy smile is on nearly every person.

"Red Shack" was to Western Kentucky what "Deep Bottom" has been to Mt. Sterling.

Menefee Deposit Bank.

Last Monday subscribers to the Menefee Deposit Bank stockholders met in Frenchburg and organized by electing for their board of directors: W. C. Taylor, W. R. Tabor, H. L. Wallace, T. L. Caudell, Turner Wells, J. H. Wells and H. N. Gose—W. C. Taylor, President; W. R. Tabor, Vice President, and H. L. Wallace, of Paintsville, Cashier.

The capital stock of the bank is 15,000, one-half of which was taken by home parties and the other $7,500 by Ike Adair, of Fordeville, Ky., and John McHenry, of Louisville.

They have provided a fine fire and burglar proof safe of the Mosler make, and are enthusiastic over the prospects for a successful future.

On Rail Pay the Standard Oil Company Retires its Veteran Employees.

Between 500 and 600 men have been in the employ of the Standard Oil Company in the refineries in Long Island City, Greenpoint and Williamsburg, for more than 30 years, will be retired on April 1 on half pay.

This will not affect the men in humble situations, but all the heads of departments who have seen more than 30 years' service.

The company has never discharged its men who have grown old in its service, but has kept them at work about the yards on half pay. They have done simple chores that required very little physical exertion. All these old men will now be retired.

Fined $5,000.

The Armour, Cudahy, Swift, Hammond and the Schwartzchilds and Sulzberger Packing Companies, the five defendants in the ouster proceedings brought by the Attorney General of Missouri, against the alleged beef combine last summer, were fined $5,000 each in the Missouri Supreme Court on Friday and ordered to pay the costs of the case, which amount to $5,000. Unless the fines and costs are paid within thirty days, the defendants will be ousted from the State, so the court orders.

Put Out.

The constitution guarantees freedom of speech, but it does not guarantee a clerkship in the war department. Miss Taylor, a clerk in the war department, wrote letters to the papers, denouncing the administration's Philippine policy, and was discharged. She appealed to the courts to reinstate her on the ground that her discharge impaired the freedom of her speech. The supreme court of the District of Columbia decided that Secretary Root had a right to remove her.

William Maupin has bought the Judge J. H. Hazelrigg residence property, corner of Howard Avenue and Clay Street. Price paid, $9,325.00.

LIVE STOCK MARKET.

CINCINNATI.—Cattle receipts light and market stronger with prices from 15c. to 25c. higher, nice fat butcher grades showing the most improvement.

Some prime medium weight steers 1295 lbs. sold at $5.10. Buyers of stockers and feeders were on the market in numbers and took everything desirable at strong prices. Butcher steers extra $1.85, good to choice $1.25 to 1.75. Common at $3.50 to 4.00. Hefers extra $1.65 to 1.75, common to good $3.25 to 4.00, good cows at $3.50 to 4.00, common $2.50 to 3.00, canners $1.50 to 2.25.

Hogs—Slight increase in receipts during the past week, prices lower the first of the week, but prices improved later and closed strong. Good to choice packers and butchers at $7.65 to $7.70; mixed packers at $7.45 to $7.70; light shippers at $6.90 to $7.40; pigs, 110 pounds and less at $5.25 to $6.85.

Sheep—Good demand for both sheep and lambs, and prices advanced. Extra ewes and wethers, $7.75 to $8.00; good to choice, $5.25 to $5.75; good to choice lambs, $6.50 to $6.90; common to fair, $4.50 to $6.40.

Homeward Bound From the Holy Land.

Special from Harrodsburg says: The officers of the Christian church here have received a letter from their pastor, Dr. M. Gano Buckner, dated at Gibraltar, stating that he will arrive in New York harbor about April 13. Dr. Buckner has been taking a tour through the Holy Land, accompanied by Dr. Tibbs, of this city.

Strayed or Stolen.

Yellow Bay Mare, about 16 hands high, 9 years old this spring, a good saddle mare, natural running-walker, then in order, scarred on both sides by harness marks, hind legs scarred, hind feet white, light tail and high carriage, small lump on left hip, noticeable only when moving. Liberal reward for her return or any information leading to her recovery. C. T. Wilson, Chief of Police of Mt. Sterling, Ky.

Our Jugernaut of Greed.

In connection with the recent epidemic of railway disasters the statement is made that the percentage killed and injured in the railway mail service of this country is greater than that in the army and navy in times of war and peace combined.

Not a single person has been killed upon the railroads of England in the last 15 months. This in spite of the fact that the English railway system is the most crowded in the world.

With this record compare our own. The United States Interstate Commerce Commission, in its latest accident bulletin, reported that in the three months ended Sept. 30, 263 persons were killed and 2613 injured in railroad disasters.

At that rate, in 15 months, the total number of killed amounts to 1,315 and the injured to over 13,000.

And in this same period not one death was caused in England!

A more appalling comparison is hardly possible.

Yet there is the further fact that in the first 15 days of February there were 77 passengers killed in this country—77 in 15 days, against not one in 15 months in England.

There is a comparison that ought to stagger us. It ought to batter down our adamant self-esteem and make us realize and admit that in all our boasted advancement in the mechanical arts we have blindly chased the dollar to the neglect of human life.

What is possible in England is even more easily possible here, for the simple reason that more passengers are carried there than here and on an eighth as many miles of track. The average speed is greater there than here. The frequency of trains is far greater.

So slaughter is less excusable here than there.

What makes it all the more utterly inexcusable is the fact that science offers almost absolute safe guard against the collisions that have spattered our land with blood. But these cost money—and lives do not.

We are fond of bragging of our commercial and mechanical advancement. We have the finest trains and the richest cargoes in the world, and we send them flying from ocean to ocean. But we forget that there is one thing better than all this, and that is human life.

Third Conviction.

James Kafee, alias J. W. Chaffins, in jail in Lexington, Ky., accused of forging the name of B. F. Johnson to a draft for $100, may, if convicted, get a life sentence for a third conviction.

I have had occasion to use your Black-Drainage Stock and Poultry Medicine and am pleased to say that I never used anything for stock that gave half as good satisfaction. I heartily recommend it to all owners of stock.

J. B. BELSHIRE, St. Louis, Mo.
Sick stock or poultry should not eat cheap stock food any more than sick persons should expect to be cured by food. When your stock and poultry are sick give them medicine. Don't stuff them with worthless stock foods. Unload the bowels and stir up the torpid liver and the animal will be cured. If it is possible to cure it. Black-Drainage Stock and Poultry Medicine unloads the bowels and stirs up the torpid liver. It cures every malady of stock if taken in time. Secure a 5-cent can of Black-Drainage Stock and Poultry Medicine and it will pay for itself ten times over. Horses work better. Cows give more milk. Hogs gain flesh. And hens lay more eggs. It solves the problem of making a much blood, flesh and energy as possible out of the smallest amount of food consumed. Buy a can from your dealer.

WEEDS

Consumption is a human weed flourishing best in weak lungs. Like other weeds it is easily destroyed while young; when old, sometimes impossible.

Strengthen the lungs as you would weak land and the weeds will disappear.

The best lung fertilizer is Scott's Emulsion. Salt pork is good too, but it is very hard to digest.

The time to treat consumption is when you begin trying to hide it from yourself. Others see it, you won't.

Don't wait until you can't deceive yourself any longer. Begin with the first thought to take Scott's Emulsion. If it isn't really consumption so much the better; you will soon forget it and be better for the treatment. If it is consumption you can't expect to be cured at once, but if you will begin in time and will be rigidly regular in your treatment you will win.

Scott's Emulsion, fresh air, rest all you can, eat all you can, that's the treatment and that's the best treatment.

We will send you a little of the Emulsion free.

Be sure that this picture in the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Scott's Emulsion.

Capt. Calhoun Gets Check.

Captain C. C. Calhoun, of Lexington was given the state's check for $71,190.95 in full settlement as his fee under an act of the legislature for collecting the Spanish-American and Civil War claims of Kentucky. Governor Beckham returned to the state treasurer $955.95 out of the $2,000 of the state's military fund advanced for the attorney's expenses during his services as special attorney.

Captain Calhoun will, after a brief rest, return to Washington and take up his duties as claim attorney. He has already several large claims from different States that he is now prosecuting.

Ice Companies Consolidate.

The Owensboro Ice Company and Citizens' Cold Storage and Ice Co., which have been conducting an ice war for three years, have consolidated their interests, and the two concerns will hereafter be under one management.

It is expected that the price of ice will be raised at least 50 per cent. with the advent of warm weather.

In Charge of a Receiver.

The People's Co-operative Store, of Olive Hill, recently incorporated with a capital stock of $25,000, was taken charge of by J. W. Paine's Celery Compound

CURES RHEUMATISM.

Rheumatism, which does its terrible work in the muscles, joints, and tissues, is caused by acid which gathers in the blood. To get rid of this poisonous acid which produces the irritations, pains, agonies, inflammation, and swellings peculiar to rheumatism, Paine's Celery Compound should be used without delay. No other medicine gives such prompt, cheering, and happy results. It is the only medicine that prevents a return of the dreaded disease. Paine's Celery Compound takes its course, the blood is quickly cleared of all irritating poisons, tissue and muscle are built up, and the digestive organs perfectly toned. Do not treat with indifference the slightest rheumatic symptom; the early use of Paine's Celery Compound will save you weeks and months of suffering. Mr. S. D. Conway, St. Louis, Mo., was permanently cured of rheumatism after repeated failures with other medicines and physicians; he says:

"I am 64 years of age, and have lived in St. Louis 27 years, and all this time with the exception of three years, I have served in the Engineers' Department as Inspector. Last winter I contracted rheumatism and was unable to do my duty. I tried all remedies and doctors, but failed until I struck Paine's Celery Compound, which has made a permanent cure in my case. I have recommended it to many, and they have used it with the same result."

FACTS and OBSERVATIONS

In Powell County.

On Tuesday afternoon, March 17th, the writer went to Stanton. Circuit Court had convened on Monday. The criminal docket was very light, and the business of Commonwealth Attorney, Crutcher, was practically over on the second day, although he stayed until Wednesday afternoon. Judge Benton returns to Winchester each afternoon at 4:30 o'clock.

The visiting attorneys when we were there were A. T. Wood, of Mt. Sterling and J. B. White, of Irvine.

The suit of Berry Bros. against Dr. Ewing, which had attracted considerable attention in the county, was decided in favor of the plaintiff.

Jailer Bowen had as guests about five young men who had taken too much whiskey. One of them used very abusive language to his host. A well directed blow by the jailer with his fist changed ends with the young man and he subsided.

Did you ever see York Bowen, the jailer? A blow from him (when he means business) would compare favorably with the kick of a mule with padded foot.

Those much needed bridges across Red river have not been provided for. To us it seems that the investment would be a good one for the county.

We stopped at Blackburn Hotel. A guest here will be charmed. The rate, however, is $2.

Chas. McCormick and family have temporarily located here.

H. C. Warmouth, of Clay City, has bought of J. W. Tipton his stock of merchandise and the business at Clay City.

Mrs. A. B. Hall, aged 20, is seriously sick at the home of her father, Jno. W. Williams near Stanton.

On Wednesday afternoon court adjourned until Friday morning.

R. T. Jackson has been appointed Master Commissioner of the Powell Circuit Court, succeeding J. W. Lilly.

How's This.

The two gamblers were discussing their hardships since the new Chief of Police has driven them all out of town.

"Last week," said one, "Mickey Fivers won $63,000 from a swell sport from Avondale, and ever since he made the famous haul his friends have been congratulating him."

"He must feel proud," commented the listener, "to have his name figure in the gamblers' hall of fame."

Adjudged Insane.

Laura Childers, wife of Boone Childers, of Stillwater, Wolfe county, who suddenly became insane at her home, has been tried before Judge Congleton on the charge of lunacy and sent to the insane asylum at Lexington.

Reward.

County Judge Tussey, of Rowan county, has requested Governor Beckham to offer a reward for the arrest of Ben Martin, indicted for the murder of Mrs. Mote Christian. The county is to give a similar reward.
